

Skip to main content cuboulder  Search in r/cuboulder

Log In

r/cuboulder • 1y ago
Secret-Test1603

Is there any way to reduce Cost of Attendance?

Skip to main contentLog In

Tuition Type: Tier 3

	Per Semester	Per Year
Tier 3 Tuition ¹ and Undergraduate Fees ²	$23,585	$47,170
Books/Supplies	$600	$1,200
On-Campus Housing and Meal Plans ³	$8,897	$17,794
Total	$33,082	$66,164

Skip to main content

Log In

to the benefit of my parents. Looking at the table, is there any way for me to reduce the On-campus housing and meal plans after freshmen year, like by living off campus in a 4 people apartment and eating cheaper food alternatives, or anyway to reduce the Books/Supplies cost by finding resources online. Does it sound plausible for me to reduce my freshmen year 60K COA down to 59K or lower, and also for lowering the years after that down to 50K per year or lower for COA. Also for any people currently going to CU OOS, are these cost estimates accurate?

7 · 33

 nba · Promoted

30 teams start the journey, but only two are left standing. Game 3 of the NBA Finals tips off tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. ET on ABC.

View More

nba.com

 chaps_and · 1y ago
Use the library's course reserves for at least some of your textbooks.
<https://libraries.colorado.edu/services/course-reserves>

I had some semesters where I relied 100% on the library's course reserves. Other times, I purchased. Other times, I did a mix.

3

 Secret-Test1603 OP · 1y ago
Thanks
1

 HarmonyInBadTaste · 1y ago
While being an RA at CU is a ton of work (more than it should be). A solid record of community service and good grades can land you free housing. It's like working a full time job don't be fooled but it's how many people cut out that housing bill.

2

 Secret-Test1603 OP · 1y ago
Do you think it's possible to juggle an RA's workload on top of the workload I'll get from AE coursework?
1

 HarmonyInBadTaste · 1y ago

Skip to main content

Log In

 matteoooooooooooo • 1y ago

I dunno if this is applicable to engineering, but can you get your general ed credits done at an in-state community college?

22

 PhillConners • 1y ago

 woahwhoamiidk • 1y ago

Very applicable to engineering. I only did 2 years of schooling at CU to get my engineering degree through a combo of community college and high school AP's

5

 BellaGothsButtPlug • 1y ago

OP could save their parents nearly a hundred thousand dollars with this option but won't...

1 stacksmasher • 1y ago

This is the correct answer. 1/4 the cost.

1

 u/shopify • Promoted

Real talk from real sellers: Shopify is the easiest way to start. Now it's your turn. Start your free trial.

shopify.com

Sign Up

 Due-Taro-9313 • 1y ago

First step in cutting cost for me would be buying used supplies. Books, computer, calculator, etc. I'd recommend looking for student discounts if in the market for a laptop because typically it's about a $100 discount. Also, refurbished computers face more scrutiny than ones fresh off the manufacturing line so you're more likely to have a longer lifespan on refurbished computers when buying them through the brand. And maybe try to get some classes done with a community college, online or in person, over the summer 🙌

9

 vseprviper • 1y ago

Even the off-campus used bookstore will only save you like 10% on your textbooks, from my

Skip to main contentLog Injinkies888 • 1y ago

There's a Google drive (allegedly) with all the aerospace textbooks you'll need. Ask an upperclassman for the link. Don't use your school email

↑ 1 ↓

shortgreenpea • 1y ago

Books are about 300 per semester through the campus book program (you pay a fixed amount t for all your books). So I'm not sure why the 600 number.

Unfortunately though, it's not easy to find cheaper (decent) off campus housing. My kid was in the dorms this year and for next year is renting a 4br apt with friends. They don't allow more than 4 people to live there and the cost is 5400 per month, with a year lease. Per person this is 16,200 per year, before utilities or food - which is more than living on campus. That said, I am sure if you are able to live a bit farther from campus or find a house with shared rooms I am sure it is possible to save money - just know that it isn't a given.

⊖ ↑ 1 ↓

purrmutations • 1y ago

You can absolutely find cheaper housing than that. I rented a house off Pearl street from 2019-2023, 5 bedrooms, 3 floors, 4000 a month. You have to find private landlords, and have reliable roommates.

↑ 1 ↓

Secret-Test1603 OP • 1y ago

Is it possible to live in different cities that have LCOL (like Louisville, Longmont, or Bloomfield) with a 4br apt and take a bus to the campus. Or to just join the co-op living program boulder offers, I was also wondering if living with 5 or more people is possible with a lenient enough landlord. I'm really just looking for ways to bring down the Housing and Meal plans after freshmen year to ~7-9K. Also I'm likely going to go back to my home-state every summer, so is it possible to find housing locations that accept 9 month payments.

⊖ ↑ 0 ↓

BellaGothsButtPlug • 1y ago

OP I went to CU for 3 years and never once paid for a book. Its not hard. As for REAL ways to help with the cost, here are a few options (but they require huge sacrifice on your part so):

1. Get loans and do ROTC or enlist after graduation for air force so they will pay off your loans, that way your parents pay nothing.
2. Go to a local community college then reapply for CU Boulder to save a hundred thousand dollars or more.
3. Do step 2 THEN step 1 and enter ROTC/enlistment with a huge step up because you have a degree.
4. Get a job and work every spare second outside of school and give every cent you earn to your parents.

Skip to main contentLog In

You're never going to save them money living off campus in Boulder. Your ideas all read like someone who has never had to support themselves. And commuting from Louisville/Longmont/anywhere else is going to come with increased costs in gas/vehicle maintenance/etc. You're searching for solutions where they don't exist when the solutions are painfully obvious.

Best of luck to you.

↑ 3 ↓

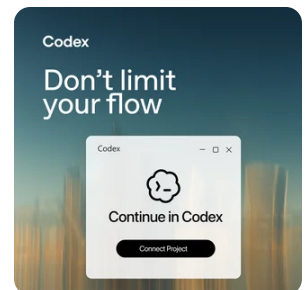

⊕ HazelFlame54 • 1y ago

 u/OpenAI • Promoted

Don't limit your flow. Move your build to Codex and pick up where you left off.
Designed to be token efficient.

Sign Up

chatgpt.com

 UnitLost6398 • 1y ago

The move would be to move to Colorado and attend a community college for the first year, so phys 1 / 2, calc 1 / 2, and some gen eds. Then you should be able to apply to CU as a 4.0 CC grad with in state tuition.

⊖ ↑ 6 ↓

 woahwhoamiidk • 1y ago

Contingent that you don't take your parents health insurance, have a permanent residence here, change your drivers license, voters registration, car registration, etc.

It's what I did, and it worked, but it's not just as simple as going to CC here

⊖ ↑ 6 ↓

 cgund • 1y ago

Yes you have to become totally financially independent from your parents to get in-state tuition. It's not as simple as moving here and going to cc for a year.

↑ 2 ↓

 journey37 • 1y ago

This is the way 100%

⊖ ↑ 1 ↓

 vseprviper • 1y ago

Skip to main content

Log In

U ↗ ∨
1 more reply ∨

 On_Mt_Vesuvius • 1y ago
While most of the other comments are reasonable ways to save a few thousand over your time. Here are a few difficult / nearly impossible ways to save 5 digits worth of dollars. I know people who have done each of these, but a few years ago, so it might have changed or be harder to do.

1. Graduate in 3 / 3.5 years. Look up prerequisites, consider studying for and taking an extra AP tests this year if it's the difference to start sophomore level classes. Don't retake any APs if you're doing this. Plan out the core classes for all 3 years to see if it's doable.
2. Get in-state tuition at some point. Even if it's just for senior year, you keep your out of state scholarship for that year, but pay in-state tuition, so it could basically be free. I'd consider this harder. My friend got this because his dad moved to CO for work coincidentally, otherwise, I've not heard of it.
3. Other scholarship programs, even while enrolled. You can still apply for many scholarships while a student! Almost everyone forgets this, only looking for and applying to scholarships before they come to CU.

↑ 1 ↓

 purrmutations • 1y ago
You can get all the books for free from libgen

↑ 1 ↓

 r/ColumbusAviators • 2mo ago

Looks like attendance might be alright Friday

47 upvotes · 13 comments

 r/DragonsteelNexus • 6mo ago

Attendance Numbers?

29 upvotes · 26 comments

 r/MSRITians • 8mo ago

85% attendance

Skip to main content

Log In

PROMOTED

r/NewYorkSirens • 3mo ago

Attendance

87 upvotes · 24 comments

r/DuolingoEnglishTest • 1y ago

Is there any discount or a way to do the test for free?

1 upvote · 1 comment

Skip to main content

Log In

164 upvotes · 97 comments

 r/NorthernSuperLeague · 24d ago

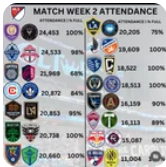

Attendance

14 upvotes · 27 comments

 r/SanDiegoFC · 3mo ago

Attendance

155 upvotes · 149 comments

PROMOTED

 r/betterhelp · 1y ago

Is there a way to pay for BetterHelp using insurance?

3 upvotes · 7 comments

 r/Sproutsfarmersmarket · 2mo ago

Attendance policy

5 upvotes · 11 comments

Skip to main contentLog In

7 upvotes · 22 comments

r/NewYorkSirens · 6mo ago

Attendance

38 upvotes · 62 comments

r/hollywood_animal_game · 8mo ago

How to get good attendance through the advertising

8 upvotes · 10 comments

r/ClaudeAI · 1y ago

Is it wise to get a anual subscription to save money ?

1 upvote · 7 comments

r/MonarchMoney · 1y ago

Is there a way to drilldown spending?

4 upvotes · 7 comments

r/MacUni · 3mo ago

Quick question about attendance check for classes

9 upvotes · 7 comments

r/Spectrum · 1y ago

Is there a way to make internet less expensive?

3 upvotes · 32 comments

r/ApplyingToCollege · 1y ago

A little trick to reduce your college tuition price big-time

285 upvotes · 58 comments

r/Reignfc · 2mo ago

What's causing attendance struggles?

33 upvotes · 68 comments

r/ApplyingToCollege · 1y ago

Indecisive on where to commit

Skip to main content

Log In

 1nj1loz • 1y ago

12-15% increase in cost of attendance?

89 upvotes · 23 comments

 r/Brooklyn • 1y ago

Is there a way to see historical ConEd energy bills for an address?

7 upvotes · 3 comments

 r/personalfinance • 1y ago

Financial Moves to Reduce College Costs?

72 comments

 r/UCONN • 2mo ago

How Realistic Is this Cost of Attendance

53 upvotes · 83 comments

 r/cuboulder • 5y ago

Is Boulder worth the out of state costs?

44 upvotes · 56 comments

Room and Board	$10,186.00
Tuition	$39,678.00
Books and Supplies	$1,368.00
Transportation	$2,704.00
Personal and Miscellaneous	$1,958.00
Loan Fees	$92.00
Fees	$4,554.00
Food	$8,896.00
Total	$67,106.00

Fees	4,554.00
Food	8,896.00
Housing	10,186.00
Loan Fees	92.00
Miscellaneous and Personal	1,958.00
Transportation	2,704.00
Tuition	39,678.00
Total	67,106.00

VIEW POST IN

Русский

See more ▾

TOP POSTS

 Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of March 30, 2025

 Reddit

Log In

Reddit

reReddit: Top posts of 2025

Reddit Rules Privacy Policy User Agreement Your Privacy Choices Accessibility Reddit, Inc. © 2026. All rights reserved.