How accepting is cu of trans people?

I'm transitioning from MtF and was wondering how accepting cu is. I wanna go cause the building looks nice and the dorms look pretty good to. I plan on going for computer science. I'm just curious if they're programs and stuff of the like. Also what's the music scene like. Punk rock and electro stuff.

I think is a pretty decent music scene at Boulder. I went to a shit ton of house shows and had several friends join and create their own bands and hold shows that were pretty sick. A lot of indie rock stuff, but definitely some punk and harder metal/rock bands if you find the crowd

If you're a trans person going into computer science you'll probably blend in with other students lmao. But in all seriousness cu boulder is pretty accepting of all queer people. The city of boulder is great too!

Overall the vibe in general is very accepting. Sometimes, however, it seems like the conservatives feel like they need to martyr themselves and can be pretty nasty...

a good portion of the CS student body was LGBT when i attended (myself included). definitely more so than the other engineering departments. i can't speak to the trans experience as a whole at CU but i never saw or heard anything negative or alarming.

Only thing I'm worried about is being targeted. So far here where I live it's been pretty bad no one's going to be able to give you a 100% guarantee that it won't happen. but, relatively speaking, Boulder is a very accepting and progressive city. i wouldn't worry about it too much.

It's pretty inclusive here, but like anywhere, there is a certain degree of assholes to the population. Overall you will be fine. I see flyers all the time for house shows with various punk bands.

I play bass and guitar. I like just playing with random people doesn't matter what genre. Also i saw a clip from a punk show in Denver looked so fun

The conservatives/anti-LGBT people on campus tend to keep to themselves, you might run into the occasional high octane idiot but nothing that would truly pose a threat to you. We also have a radio, that's usually a good way to find out about upcoming punk shows.

I'm trans too and people have been good to me. There's punk shows very (very) occasionally, and they happen more often in Denver, which is about a half hour drive or about an hour on the bus.

the scene is pretty good, there's a bunch of shows that go on, and i know some bands who are local here. Mostly punk stuff. If you want in on any of it, hit me up

Boulder is one of the most open, liberal, and accepting cities in the USA, and CU is very LGBTQ+ friendly too.

Calling All Local Trans Peeps!!

7 upvotes · 13 comments

We are looking for fellow trans and non-binary peeps to help out with our next Unity table -- we'll be at the June 5th Drag Dispensary show in Oakland and would like to set up a table focusing on ways to support our local trans community as well as honor the deaths of Juniper Blessing, Luca RedHeart, and other trans siblings who have been murdered. We specifically need help with infographic/pamphlets/ones to hand out and would like to hear directly from YOU on how Unity can help our local trans community. Do you need help raising money for a legal name change? Do you need a chest binder? Do you want to go on HRT but don't know where to start? Let us know!
